Global investments prove profitable for LGIAsuper members

LGIAsuper's strategic investment in innovative offshore infrastructure and renewables continues to drive strong returns for the fund's 75,000 Queensland members.

Latest quarterly figures (as at 30 March 2020) show a 14.67% return from the fund's participation in the ISQ Infrastructure Fund operated by global infrastructure investment manager I Squared Capital (ISQ).

The successful relationship with ISQ has given LGIAsuper access to a portfolio of around USD $9.1 billion across energy, utility, telecom and transport industries in the Americas, Europe and Asia. The portfolio also includes the fast-growing renewable energy market in Europe.

LGIAsuper's total investment in the ISQ Global Infrastructure Fund is currently AUD $368 million. It includes projects like the OCENSA pipeline in Colombia, Cube Highways in India, Rubis Terminal in Europe and FlexiVan in the United States.

LGIAsuper CEO Kate Farrar said the latest returns from the ISQ Global Infrastructure Fund were strong evidence that LGIAsuper's strategy of investing in critical long-term infrastructure was delivering positive results for fund members.

"ISQ has a track record of finding the best opportunities across the globe, and our partnership with the company enables us to participate in some very successful and profitable projects," Ms Farrar said.

Within the ISQ fund, LGIAsuper has an AUD $11.9 million share in Grupo T-Solar, a Spanish solar power producer. T-Solar plans to produce and distribute 127 megawatts of additional power across Spain.

Ms Farrar said it was important for LGIAsuper to be investing in assets at the forefront of the growing renewable energy market.

"Our participation in the ISQ Global Infrastructure Fund means we have a stake in several early industry leaders, like Amplus Energy, a thriving solar energy provider in India," Ms Farrar said.

"Renewable energy is growing right now as traditional energy assets fall out of favour, so it's important that we are a part of this shift".

"As a boutique superannuation fund, we can react swiftly to opportunities in new and emerging sectors. Larger funds may struggle to match our agility. It is why we appeal to people who want a fund that is going to protect them from market fluctuations, while taking advantage of growth opportunities when they arise."
